Service Definition: Test Training Services and Pricing Information

Description:
Sogeti provides a number of instructor led classroom based testing training courses, which are delivered either as part of a public schedule or as on-site courses scheduled to suit your organisation's needs.

Our full-time trainers are TAP accredited and are dedicated to delivering test training leveraging their years of experience in both testing and training. (TAP is the Queen's Award-winning 'train the trainer' and training accreditation programme for Learning & Development Professionals in more than 30 countries).

Why Use This Service:
Sogeti training courses cover all aspects of agile project management and testing, spanning the full software development lifecycle.

From BCS (ISEB) / ISTQB certification courses to practical career-aligned courses, Sogeti training provides delegates with a structured approach to their careers, and relevant skills for today's demands, including Agile and Cloud based projects, and supporting skill transfer to supplement our other CloudStore test services.

Key Elements of This Service:
We believe that our courses must integrate and embed the skills back into your day to day working environment if our training is to be successful. To achieve this we offer the following flexible delivery options to support your needs.

Onsite Courses
Many of our customers have strategic goals for their training focussed around their people, test approach, development methodology and critical applications. Leveraging learning sections from each of our courses, Sogeti Training is able to mirror these goals to ensure we embed learning into your testing strategy. For this training and our larger customers we also deliver training onsite thus minimising disruption and removing potential travel expenses.

Public Courses
Open to the general public, these courses offer the most extensive learning experience by bringing together delegates from all industry sectors who each tend to approach testing in a different way. Our public courses are suited to small test teams who can't all be off project at once and contractors looking to up-skill between roles.
